

MARG REHNBERG

QUIET PLACE

My soul is seized by the wonders of provocative earth..
From the breadth of the skies to the depths of the seas.

If, in dipping my brush, I might expose what seems concealed,
the majesty of it all, it is not I, but the Creator still.

If one peaceful moment beacons belief
and a place to imagine a haven of rest,

Then I have done what I must do...

- Marg Rehnberg,
Chicago, 2005

